

About us

Judi Walton

Judi joined the practice in August 2011 and manages and runs the main Physiotherapy office. Judi looks after the day-to-day running of all office tasks and organises each therapist's geography and visits each day. Judi is the gateway to all of our services and will try her hardest to find an answer to all of your physiotherapy queries! Previously Judi has worked in a very busy GP practice as a medical secretary however enjoys the busy nature of our practice with its varied client base and flexible approach.

Judi has enabled us to bring our service up to speed with new procedures to ensure we provide the upmost quality at all times and to provide clear and open communication between all parties concerned with the clinical outcome of your animal. When Judi is not at work she enjoys cycling and walking her dogs plus being a very active member of her local rowing club.

TIM BRADFORD Msc Vet Phys. BHSc (Hons) MCSP HCPC ACPAT Cat A Partner

Since gaining his BHSc (Hons) Human Physiotherapy degree from Leeds University in 1997 Tim has been eternally focused upon becoming the best Physiotherapist he can be. Having achieved his human qualification (Chartered Physiotherapist) Tim worked across Yorkshire and surrounding counties both in the NHS and within private practice gaining invaluable musculoskeletal knowledge and experience working alongside top UK orthopaedic surgeons. Having gained these experiences Tim then provided specialist musculoskeletal locum Physiotherapy services to NHS trusts across the north of England. During this time Tim was also undertaking his MSc Veterinary Physiotherapy qualification through the Royal Veterinary College, London which he successfully completed in 2006. During the same year Tim and Rhiannon moved southward to Herefordshire and Tim continued with locum human Physiotherapy work in Wales while Bradford's Veterinary Physiotherapy was born! Since 2006 Tim has progressed and developed his specialist Veterinary Physiotherapy skills and now supports and treats international competition horses here at home in the UK and into Europe. Tim has also been invited to provide consultancy physiotherapy services to the British Equestrian Federation here in the UK. Since the arrival of two new members of the Bradford clan Tim enjoys family time and getting out for a run every now and then!

Rhiannon qualified as a Chartered Physiotherapist in 1999 having gained her BSc (Hons) degree in Physiotherapy from the University of Huddersfield. She then started working within the NHS specialising in Neurology and Orthopaedics. Following these experiences Rhiannon then went on to provide specialist physiotherapy locum services across the north of England, whilst also providing specialist musculoskeletal services to BUPA. Rhiannon also undertook the MSc in Veterinary Physiotherapy at the Royal Veterinary College, London following her long awaited goal to train to be a Veterinary Physiotherapist after first experiencing the profession back in 1999 just before qualifying as a Chartered Physiotherapist and vowed 'that was the profession for her!' Rhiannon started and developed 'Bradford's Veterinary Physiotherapy' in June 2006 and it has grown ever since. Whilst setting up the practice Rhiannon also provided her expertise to advise Herefordshire Council and the Primary Care Trust to assist them in setting up rehabilitation services across Herefordshire. Rhiannon is currently the practice manager and developer of the practice and continues to implement and drive change towards their aim as a practice and its position within veterinary medicine. Rhiannon also splits her time between clinical cases and looking after their two young children.

ROS SMITH Msc Vet Phys. BSc (Hons) MCSP HCPC ACPAT Cat A

Originally from Shropshire, Ros qualified as a Chartered Physiotherapist in 2010 from the University of Birmingham. Ros then followed her passion for horses and worked in one of the largest professional thoroughbred breeding yards in New Zealand which included all aspects of stud work and producing youngsters for the sale ring. On return to the UK Ros worked in the NHS in Shrewsbury in the fundamental and core Physiotherapy areas such as musculoskeletal outpatients and acute medicine. Whilst sustaining her human Physiotherapy work within the NHS, Ros finally followed her dream of working with animals and undertook her post graduate diploma in Veterinary Physiotherapy at the University of the West of England, following this she went on to undertake and pass her Masters degree in Veterinary Physiotherapy (MSc). Ros moved to Herefordshire in June 2014 to work for Bradford's Veterinary Physiotherapy having carried out most of her practical Veterinary Physiotherapy training with them. Ros has always had a keen interest in training and competing dogs; she qualified and competed her working sheepdog in obedience and Flyball at Crufts. When not working Ros spends her time walking her unruly whippet, training and competing her Aunt's horse and attending annual race meets. ITH MSc Vet Phys. BSc (Hons) MCSP HCPC ACPAT Cat A
